School day

Students celebrate this day as sales day because they sell hand-made things. For example they sell hand-made candles. Last year we had shops with these strange things. I don't like this day because i'm bored. We namely just sell and nothing else. Last year we had „oracle“ this means that we made up stories in the future. I weren't prophed. I was advertisement people and deal calendar. When we had time we went shopping. Last yaer was quite funny but i don't like school and every around this. Many people like this day and that is good.

Our school traditions

° First day and the anniversary of school °

In our school we have many traditions.

-At the beginning of our new school year 1st September, we, year 9s, welcome the year 1s. They're startled, so we must be nice and friendly. We give them a small bunch of flowers and they are happier. All pupils of our school are on the playground and some teachers have speech.

-4th December is the anniversary of our school. Our school is about 100 years old. On this day we can sell some things, but we must make them. We don't make much money, but no one minds because it's in the spirit of the school. Some pupils prepare a performance for the parents. Sometimes it's cool. And our school chorus has a small concert.

The welcoming of the year ones

On the first day of the year the pupils from year nines divide all the pupils of year one between themselves. Each takes one and helps him or her write their name on a big paper hat. The first years then wear the hat with their name on it and proceed to write their name again on a big piece of paper in the playground. Meanwhile most of the parents are taking pictures and making videos of their child's first day at school. Some of the year ones are very scared on their first day and it's the job of the year nines to make them feel good and welcome. Once they have written their names on this paper they are sorted into the classes they are in and listen to their teachers, who prepare a small speech of welcome. After this the headteacher greets them and then they are led into the classrooms they will be learning in. After this the year nines leave and go back to their own classrooms.
